The administration viewpoint was that Stanley's remarks provoked a most unfortunate situation and that if he felt the same way he should have expressed his views in his public statements.

Stanley may feel now, according to some observers here, that he has been unfairly treated. He may ask to be relieved. Unless his report to the state department provides a far different version of the Stanley remarks than has appeared in the newspapers, an official reprimand is expected.

Censorship restrictions today were lifted to allow general publication of the storm story.

Montreal reported the blizzard it experienced Saturday and Sunday as the worst since 1900. Streets with the exception of a few main thoroughfares, were blocked and many cases residents had to climb out windows to clear the snow from their doors. Thousands of workers were unable to reach their jobs, and others, unable to get home, were forced to spend the night at the place.

The Bulletin's SPORTS SHOW

by Hal Dean

FIRST of the playoffs at the Arena tonight between Red Deer Army and No. 3 "M" Depot for the northern Alberta title, serves as a reminder that the outstanding feature in the sport picture for Edmonton this winter has been the great revival in basketball interest.

While various factors may have contributed to the resurgence in popularity of the new game, there is little question but that the City Men's League has been chiefly responsible.

The eight-city circuit formed last fall by a strong executive headed by Clare Hollingsworth has enjoyed a very successful season. The fact that four of the teams were composed of Americans also helped. The inclusion of the U.S. Army Engineers, Alamo, Air Transport, and Civilian, and the Regina, Calgary, and Edmonton teams, impetus to the game and these clubs along with latter day Stars, Y.M.C.A., Varsity and City Police made up a strong league.

Inter-service league also did its share in stimulating interest particularly as the winner—"M" Depot—later moved right into the spotlight by taking the city championship after an exciting series in which the Engineers who went the full three games.

"M" DEPOT FAVORED
UNBLESSED Red Deer Army can claim a very much more than average credit there would appear to be little doubt but that "M" Depot is the favorite.

See Ultimate Chance Manning States Monetary Reform Is Required for Post-War Reconstruction

Proposals for post-war reconstruction, Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry, said in the legislature's budget debate Tuesday afternoon, are without exception based on the assumption that money will be available for the schemes.

Arrives Overseas

Mr. Manning said the money involved in the schemes is not available. "What he asked," he said, "is the money isn't available."

He also pointed out the failure of the whole post-war reconstruction and reconstruction program hinges on the answer to this question.

"If we attempt to finance post-war reconstruction and postwar economy under the present money monopoly, we are doomed to failure before we start," he said.

But on the other hand, if the people of Canada are wise enough to take the issue and control of their own money, and credit, into their own hands, there is no reason why the post-war era cannot be made the greatest period of prosperity and security this country has ever known. Mr. Manning concluded.

INEVITABLE CONCLUSION

"I am satisfied all will be forced to this conclusion sooner or later, he added.

I am satisfied the day will come when the people of Canada will be asked to make a choice of essential monetary reform will be branded as saboteurs of the post-war era of material.

At the start of his address, Mr. Manning repeated in statements that he would support the plan of the house, by E. E. Roper, C.C.F. leader.

Referring to Mr. Roper's accusation that the government was "keeping money down a hole," in the case of the R.C.A.F. program, the minister pointed out that the government was not in connection with treasury branches poured into the pockets of Alberta citizens.

Without a recorded vote, the legislature concluded discussion on Hon. Solon Lewis's budget debate, which ran for a total of three nights.

"I am sure that our debt will be reduced," he continued. "I am in my determination to do my utmost to bring the debt down to a manageable level."

"I am sure we should bend every effort to have the job done on a basis of economy," he said.

During January sales amounted to $3,800, a little more than half of this figure.

Reports on the number of high school students who also subscribed to Mr. Sheppard and revealed that 110 students had joined the armed forces out of which, 75 had paid the supreme sacrifice and 23 had been decorated for bravery.

It was decided at the meeting that the Union Jack should be the flag flown on school buildings, that it need not be flown every day but on special occasions such as Dominion holidays and any special event such as the birthday of any reigning monarch and similar occasions.

A decrease in attendance of 563 during the month of February 1943 as against the same month last year was reported by Mr. Sheppard.

District News in Brief Pioneers' Dreams Are Now Realized In Peace Country

GRANDE PRAIRIE—Dreams of the pioneers of the Peace River country are now being realized, and the building of the highway has been speeded up by the development of this area and that lying to the north by at least a quarter of a century. It was revealed at the recently held annual Prairie Board of Trade.

In the chair was P. V. Croken, president of the board, who reported that 10,000 bushels of grain were shipped from Peace River last year. He stressed the importance of a coast rail outlet from the north.

Aviation progress was outlined by P. J. Tooley, who described the development of aviation facilities at Grande Prairie.

Mr. Tooley also stated that the construction of the Alaska highway was opening up resources so vast that the development could well off the national debt. He praised the $100,000 in travelling roads in the district. He stressed the need for a coast rail outlet from the north.

IMPROVE FREIGHT
In replying J. M. MacArthur, general manager of the Northern Alberta Railway stated that it was impossible to build a new freight line in the Peace River area by adding one or two cars of small package freight to the regular freight, which already have a car of perishable freight daily.

Mr. MacArthur also mentioned the R.C.A.F. training center, which included R. H. Settle, president, Edmonton, and J. B. MacArthur, general manager, Edmonton. He mentioned the R.C.A.F. training center, which included R. H. Settle, president, Edmonton, and J. B. MacArthur, general manager, Edmonton.

Greater Industrialization of West Urged by Alberta

Drainage of Manpower For Eastern Industry Is Protested in Brief

The present national policy of development of war industries tends to centralize these war industries in eastern Canada, Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry, said in the Alberta legislature Tuesday afternoon.

Dennis Barron strolling in the central part of the city.

"This fact has an important bearing on the industrial future of the west, and also the manpower problem," the minister stated, adding that many war plants will undoubtedly be converted to peacetime production at the end of the war.

The minister read a brief to the house respecting the use of western manpower in war industry, which has been presented to the Dominion government.

MODIFICATIONS ASKED

In the main, the brief asks the Ottawa government to modify the policy of centralizing war industry in the east, and draining manpower from the west. Two requests made in the brief ask for sufficient prime acreage to be allotted to western provinces, to fully utilize their existing industrial facilities under a "this and piece" program, and second, for establishment of new war industries in the west, as far as practicable.

The brief presented to the Dominion authorities states:

"In order that western manpower may be used to the maximum in war industry, and to prevent disastrous consequences to the economic structure of the western provinces, and in order to prevent conditions arising which will be detrimental to the war effort, the following suggestions for national policy in respect to the use of manpower are respectfully made:

1.—Through the facilities of the National Selective Service, complete data should be compiled and kept up to date re available manpower in the Dominion. This data should be broken down according to provinces.

2.—This should be accompanied by a complete survey of idle or partially idle industrial facilities.

Queen Is Crowned and Enthroned at Annual Green and Gold Ball

Sponsored by the young men and women of the Church of Latter Day Saints, the annual Green and Gold Ball, held recently, was an outstanding success. One of the features of the event was the crowning of the queen. In the above picture of the crowning ceremony are shown: Back row, Miss Zola Tanner, queen's attendant; Miss Melba Bennett, past queen; Miss Fern Peirgrass, the queen, seated on the throne; and Miss June Keith, queen's maid. The three flower girls, left to right, are: Misses Betty Sheppard, Kathleen Low and Nancy Sykes. Seated in front are the two page boys, Perry and Ross Collins.

Policemen are more than just defenders of the law and a headache to the lawless; they are everyday fellows with heart, the gold and as big as a nugget. And if you don't believe it, you should have seen them come to the rescue of a mother and six children on Monday evening, at the city police station—the mother, an Indian, the children, six famished, tired, dishevelled papooses.

WANDER ABOUT

The papooses, police learned, landed in Edmonton early Monday, from Onion Lake, Sask., this being as far as their tickets carried them. All day long they wandered about with their mother, who had no money and with six Indian reserve, they went their way; they bothered no one. Late in the day they were taken to the police station, where they took possession of the line between the corridor.

But how long they were there nobody knows, but it was not until one of the officers found them sitting quietly there, and asking them why, that their plight was discovered.

It has already been said that Edmonton's police have big hearts. Now they opened up those hearts and their pockets—books and dug up sufficient money to supply the family with cooked meat, bread, milk, sweet biscuits and butter (all of some body's ration).

From the eldest child of 12 to the youngest of a year, they were furnished. Between the officers' hands the story of how the family was stranded, he, policeman, told.

At last the meal was over, and C. H. Hill, of the child welfare

Many Applications For Wartime Homes

Applications for 100 homes to be built under an agreement between the city of Edmonton and Wartime Housing Ltd., are pouring into the city, with 40 being received Wednesday morning from workers at Aircraft Repair Ltd.

Mayor John F. Fry announced that more than 150 applications have been received for these homes, and numerous enquiries are being received daily concerning the accommodation to be provided in the homes and the type of building that will be erected.

In the meantime sales of city property is booming as persons intending to build their own homes purchase homesites. During the first nine days of this month 18 lots of city owned land were sold, eleven of them for home-building purposes. Gross cash total of the sales was $73,500.

To those who are inclined to worry about the prospect of more rationing of foodstuffs in the near future, the article entitled "Let's live a little longer," concerns the stirring research work of Dr. Clive MacNeil, a chemist at Cornell University.

Dr. MacNeil has been patiently experimenting with rats in a truly scientific attempt to ascertain the causes of aging and death. He has kept on a restricted diet the one who had all they wanted to eat plenty. They died young, very much but they had barrels of pep and were at their attained age the equivalent to 140 years for a human.

His experiments proved conclusively that our old friend the caloric

Labor Problem Will Be Talked At Conference

Alberta's farm labor problem will be discussed between representatives of the provincial department of agriculture and three representatives of the Dominion Selective Service, agricultural division, labor supply board, and W. H. Darracott, Winnipeg, assistant regional officer, National Selective Service.

Mr. Pickersill said that the main object of the meeting is to develop the closest possible co-ordination of the various provincial departments of agriculture and the employment service of the department of labor.

He said that in the development of this policy the Dominion government was prepared to enter into an agreement with provincial governments under which the Dominion will pay dollar for dollar with the province any expenses of plan to meet the farm labor problem.

The conference here is expected to last for three days.

Reports of the legislation committee, the agricultural section of the Chamber of Commerce, a report on workmen's compensation, and a report of the meeting with Fred J. White, regional director of employment service for western Canada, were presented by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Coronet hotel.

Selective Service Official Reports

Members of the Mobilization Board, National Selective Service, department of labor, said farewell to Maj. D. O. Rogers, who has been the representative of the district officer commanding M.D. 13 on the board for the last two years.

Maj. Rogers, who is leaving to assume duties at a military establishment in Manitoba, was presented with a desk set by the board members and employees of the board. The presentation was made by Chief Justice Hon. Maurice Harvey, chairman of the board, at a complimentary banquet held Tuesday evening at the Coronet hotel.

The Inquiring Reporter

What is your opinion of the action of six-year-old Bill Adams of this city, in donating his Red Cross drive?

THE ANSWERS

FRANK JAMESON, student: The principle involved is one that merits warm praise. It is the amount of his individual contribution that makes the incident noteworthy. It is to be noted, too, that to candy, candy or peanuts mean a lot, was willing to give up these luxuries in order that others might obtain benefits.

GEORGE GILBERT, traveler: Little Bill Adams set an example that might be followed by many. While not many can afford to give their own 100 per cent, most can afford to give something, and it is to be hoped that his example will prove an inspiration to all.

NORMAN WHITSON, clerk: I am strong for Bill. He was a generous lad and I hope it will serve as a model for many others to follow.

Around The Town

Charged with obtaining a meal at a restaurant by fraud, Steve Marrs was placed under arrest at city police Tuesday afternoon. Marrs allegedly refused to pay for the meal.

Called to a cafe where a man named Hupple was creating a disturbance Tuesday afternoon, police took him to the station, where he was held for some time before being released to go free. As there had been no damage at the eating place, police permitted the man to leave.

Number of communicable disease cases reported to the city health office during the week ending March 6 declined from 132 to 116, although scarlet fever cases increased from 19 to 27. Chicken pox cases rose from two to seven; mumps declined from 10 to 4, and whooping cough from 87 to 11.

Redoubled effort on the part of the R.C.A.P. in fifth column activities can be expected. John N. Navitsky, who is at a meeting of the Ukrainian Canadian Association held recently in the Moose Temple, Mr. Navitsky called for unity on the part of the Canadian nation to strengthen the Dominion's total war effort against Nazi Germany and her Fascist satellites.

Reports of the legislation committee, the agricultural section of the Chamber of Commerce, a report on workmen's compensation, and a report of the meeting with Fred J. White, regional director of employment service for western Canada, were presented by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Coronet hotel.

Any size of recruit is welcome in the R.C.A.P. It was revealed Wednesday when Marion Bramley, of Gnoway, and Barbara Nutfield, of Sanquid, left for the east to train with the R.C.A.P. Marion is five feet, eight inches tall, while Barbara is four feet, 11 inches in height. But the enthusiasm of each was about equal.

Training on the same team were: Doreen McNeil, 1524 66 street. She was enlisted the day after her 18th birthday anniversary, and is well known in the community.

Others in the unit included: Edna Anderson, 9623 41 avenue; Mary Webb, 8741 41 avenue; Olga Johnston, 2400 Browning, Wetaskiwin; daughter of Captain John Brown, Calgary; Mildred Granger; Granger, a grand daughter of the man for whom the town was named, Anselme Granger, High River.

Man Becomes Ill: Falls in the Street

Responding to a telephone call that a man had collapsed on the street, about 9:20 p.m., Tuesday, police found upon their arrival that the man had assisted the man to the use of his right leg, and he was lying face down on the sidewalk.

He was taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital, where he was named. When it was found that the man had gone home, Norman was taken to the hospital, where he was named. When it was found that the man had gone home, Norman was taken to the hospital, where he was named.

Typographical Members Hold Dinner Meeting

With about 75 members in attendance, Edmonton Typographical Union No. 604 held a dinner meeting in the Royal George hotel Tuesday night.

A dinner meeting is something new for the type, and in welcoming those present, Mr. Norman expressed satisfaction at the large percentage of membership of the union who had responded to the invitation. When wartime restrictions are removed, it was stated, the likely meetings of this kind will be held more frequently, as the first affair was a decided success.

Usual business proceedings followed the dinner, during which it was announced that at the next meeting, to be held in the Labor Hall in April, W. Gimblett will show some colored motion picture taken while on a motor trip to various points on the Pacific coast.

Motor Licenses Are Due April 1

The public was warned Wednesday by Edm'dn. Townbridge, deputy provincial secretary, that 1942-43 motor vehicle licenses and gasoline ration coupons expire on March 31, and in order to operate a motor vehicle on and after April 1, the 1942-43 motor vehicle license and gasoline ration coupon book with sticker must be used.

The demand for motor vehicle licenses on Saturday and Monday was good, which brought the number issued within the 1942 figures.

Edmonton is the only issuing of the oil control in the province for the issuing on applications for gasoline coupons for motor vehicles and trucks.

Cars Carried Aloft by Troops in New-Type Training

Glider Boys and Their Jeeps Train for Silent Attack

Her heart's on her sleeve—Dolores Moran starts a new fad in Hollywood by showing her heart is in the right place—with the armed forces. Miss Moran will be seen in Warner Bros. new picture "George Washington Slept Here".

Up into the blue go silent birdmen—the glider boys of the U.S. Army—and they take their Jeeps along. At top, twin-motored tow plane pulls its glider into the air. Craft's nose opens up, left, to permit passage of jeep. Even though they're training at Victorville, Calif., the glider students wear heavy clothes for flights in the winter sky.

Three Hollywood lovelies get set for a form of locomotion that requires no gas or tires and provides far more exercise of that figure-slimming type than does walking.

Yank Guns Blast Nazi Tanks in Tunisia

Perky

Jane Wyman, lovely Warner Bros. player, models a simple "after five o'clock" dress complemented by a small chapeau of shirred black felt with pink velvet roses and sheer veiling trim. Miss Wyman will next be seen in "Princess O'Rourke".

Battle-Bound Nazi Tanks in Bizerte

Samples of German might in Tunisia are these tanks rolling through a gateway in Bizerte. Picture from a Nazi publication shows tanks of the type being used against Allied forces on central front.

Who Is Ann?

Why lovely Ann Sheridan, of course. Showing the Sheridan version of the up-swept hair do. Ann is currently to be seen in Warner Bros. production "George Washington Slept Here" with Jack Benny.

The Terrible Eye

By EDWIN RUTT

CHAPTER XVI

WITHIN the changing house there was no sound of revelry by night. Soft music filtered through the open windows, bright evening gowns shimmered and rustled. The black and white of dinner jackets and tuxedos were sharp silhouettes. Mr. H. L. Channing's version of a victory ball was in full swing.

On the fringe of the festivities hovered Miss Meath. Miss Meath had made herself very useful in the preparations for the party. No detail had been too small to escape her attention. Voluntarily, and with a spirit that beggared tending to her employer, she had attended to everything.

At the moment Miss Meath was hovering unobtrusively in the semi-darkened dining room. A great feast was in readiness. Tables and sideboards groined under convalesces that would have brought a tear to the eye of Lucullus. But, as Miss Meath pulled the huge family board toward the living room, she forbore to snag even a titbit of Special Vermont Turkey. Turkey, tonight, was just peanuts to Meath.

On the threshold of the living room she paused and ran an appraising eye over the assembled multitude. Unerringly, the eye picked out Mrs. Channing. Mrs. Channing was chatting with a covey of guests. And upon her gray and patrician head there reposed, to all intents and purposes, almost backs worth of diamond tiara.

Behind her utterly unconscious the eyes of Miss Meath gleamed. And Miss Meath spoke unto Miss Meath. "Aha! 'Ucky, dearie, missed Mrs. Meath."

"I understand it was a real story-book romance."

"R. T. P.," she whispered to it lovingly. "You're just a little cranky that Mr. Joseph Bar-bonch-Schwarz won't get his hands on."

When it came to doubtingcrossing a pal, Miss Meath ranked with the first 10.

But, as she slipped elsewhere, Meath did not stop to congratulate herself on her proficiency as a doubtingcrosser. Instead, coldly businesslike, she gained the site of the commotion, lately rated by the mysterious fire. Putting two fingers to her lips, she achieved a "shush."

Instantly there was an upheaval in the rhododendrons. "Is that you, Cracker?" Meath called softly.

"Yes, I'm here in a throaty growl," dy'a tink it is, Fiorello LaGuardia?" And Mr. Sycinski's convulsion upon Miss Meath, like the mountain upon Mohamet.

Miss Meath surveyed the indignant back and laughed, chillingly. "How very funny," she said. "What a gift of response! Your tone changed. 'Well, what's biling you now, hee? You seem annoyed.' 'Now wouldn't be?' said the Cracker aggressively. 'It's damp in den bushes.'"

"Now isn't that just too bad?" The edge in Meath's voice could have shored the people. "The never mind. Muvver will you inside and get her little darling a snug-bunny."

"Aw, lay off, Gattie," said the Cracker uneasily.

Well, stop bleeping then. Now Cracker, I come to see if you've got it straight. You understand that you're to come to the house at 12 sharp? They'll be having refreshments then. Well, I'll meet you out by my driveway and snug up stairs. The wall safe is in Mrs. Channing's bedroom behind a picture of a woman. I'll be there."

"I knew a dame was dat mink-er uncl," interrupted the Cracker, reminiscences. "Miss Murgatroyd. She usta work in a one-arm jern in Brownville. Her an' me."

"Now this," said Meath, a fair interrupter herself. "Is just the moment when I'm dying to hear about your love life. As I was saying—on skip it! I'll show you the safe myself. And it's not plenty in it. But if you make a noise, I'll tear your head off."

"Tiddas, sister," said Mr. Sycinski confidently. "I'll kna crak and get her little ass tied up to baby to sleep."

Well, see that you do. Now don't forget! The drive to it is sharp. "If you have," said Meath, "it's the world's eighth wonder."

But she did him the honor of comparing eighth.

Left alone again, Joe the Cracker was loath to return to the rhododendrons. He had almost two hours to wait, and with all this magnificence around him, he saw no reason to put them in sitting amid dew-soaked foliage.

As a preliminary step in solving the housing problem, he drew forth a bottle. Entirely counter to Mrs. Meath's injunctions, the Cracker had provided himself with this bottle against his lonely still. Now, shivering, he blessed his foresight. He tilted the bottle and took a Herculean drink.
